A Word of Thanks

I would like to thank everybody at the Chapel and Church for making last weekend the best birthday of my life. It was completely unexpected.

From the ordination of Chris Baran, the souls saved on Sunday, Hunter's baptism, my dad's attendance, to the cards, notes, gifts, treats, cookies, words, handshakes, the private gift from church members (that stunned my wife and I), and more . . . Thank you.

God bless you all and the kids. It wasn't necessary, but so appreciated. I'm glad to be 55, and I'm glad to be your pastor.

Amazing Science in the King James Bible

Fact #81

Animal Instincts (Job 39; Proverbs 30:24-28; Jeremiah 8:7)

A newly hatched spider weaved an intricate web without being taught. A recently emerged butterfly somehow knows to navigate a 2,500-mile migration route without a guide. God explains that He has endowed each creature with specific knowledge. Scripture, not evolution, explains animal instincts.

Fact #82

Pest Control (Leviticus 25:1-24)

Farmers are plagued today with insects. Yet God gave a sure-fire remedy to control pests centuries ago. Moses commanded Israel to set aside one year in seven when no crops were raised. Insects winter in the stalks of last year's harvest, hatch in the spring, and are perpetuated by laying eggs in the new crop. If the crop is denied one year in seven, the pests have nothing to subsist upon, and are thereby controlled.

An Excerpt from the Christian Gentleman's Handbook

A gentleman does not sigh, fidget or make gestures when he thinks the service is too long.

A gentleman does not visit with his neighbor during the offertory, specials, announcements, or preaching.
