Mother's Kiss Did It

Dr. Joseph Parker once said that when Robert Moffat was added to the Kingdom of God, a whole continent was added with him. A mother's kiss did it. He was leaving home, and his mother was going with him part of the way.

At last she could walk no farther, and she stopped. "Robert," she said, "promise me something." "What?" asked the boy. "Promise me something," she said again, and he replied, "You will have to tell me before I will promise." "It is something you can easily do," she said. "Promise your mother." He looked into her face, and said, "Very well, Mother, I will do anything you wish."

She clasped her hands behind his head and pulled his face down to hers, and said, "Robert, you are going out into a wicked world. Begin every day with God. Close every day with God." Then she kissed him, and Robert Moffat said it was that kiss that made him a missionary.
